About this course

With the introduction of the SQE1 requirements for aspiring solicitors, traditional LLB courses often lack some key learning areas that would afford graduates a strong chance of achieving the SQE1 requirements in a timely fashion.

Our LLM is designed to address those gaps by providing students with the subjects needed for the SQE 1 that are not taught on all traditional LLB courses, therefore the course is aimed at those students who have already achieved an undergraduate law degree, and need to study the additional subjects covered by the SQE 1.

The course will cover Property Practice and Procedure, Law of Succession, Criminal Practice and Evidence, Business Law and Solicitors Accounts, and Dispute Resolution. Students will also undertake a Post Graduate Major Project in a legal subject of their choice. Assessment on the course uses a variety of methods designed to imbue an understanding of the course content and its application. As well as practical and written elements students will also be assessed by MCQ exams, in the same format as the SQE1.

Modules

- Property Practice and Procedure
- Criminal Practice and Evidence
- Dispute Resolution
- Law of Succession, Estates, Wills and Probate
- Business Law and Solicitors Accounts
- Postgraduate Major Project (Law)

Careers

We believe your postgraduate degree from ARU London will significantly enhance your employability.

Our staff have a mixture of both academic and practical legal experience, meaning that you will receive tuition from staff who can give insight into a variety of careers within the legal sector.

During your studies, there will be the opportunity to participate in the Employability Scheme with the specific objective of enhancing your future employment prospects. This includes CV workshops, interview techniques, career counselling and visits from prospective employers. Our Employability Team can also provide guidance on securing qualifying work experience in a legal setting.
